Doughnuts Pies and Smiles!

A Sidelight Over There on Food Saving Here

These are what you might call long distance smiles, because they originated over here, although they are being smiled "over there." They were made possible when you saved that extra spoonful of sugar and cut down on wheat bread. For the wheat and sugar that you saved is being made daily by the Salvation Army, into doughnuts and pies for our soldiers in the front line trenches in France. One share at the picture will tell you that they enjoy the treat. You can almost feel the soldier saying, "Just like Mother makes!" As you follow the requests of the U. S. Food Administration to save foodstuffs, remember the hardships it brings to the soldier in the front line, and see if it doesn't also bring a glow of happiness in you.

Patriotic Demonstration and Picnic at Montanosa Grove, one mile west of Hammond on lanes, north of South Shore line. The park can be reached via South Shore line or by motor busses operating from Forsythe and Chicago avenues, East Chicago.

HOUSING RUMOR IS CIRCULATED

Although no word has come direct in regard to the special activities in government housing in East Chicago, yet several rumors in this section have been spread from their representatives in Washington that government housing in this city is an assured fact.

Further data has been passing from this region to the house committee during the last two weeks and appearance indicates that the matter has at last come to a focus.

Rumors persist that there are plans for the utilization of the tract of the Baldwin Locomotive Company at the East and of Chicago avenue and just recently the news has leaked out that the Pullman Steel people also have turned their attention to the Calumet region and are likely to start something in the near future.

It is believed that capital would not have its eye glued so closely upon East Chicago and Indiana Harbor unless it had assurance of financial assistance in the solution of the housing problem.

It was said at the hospital that he had spent a comfortable night and was resting comfortably during the forenoon.

Dr. Thomas B. Noble, who, with Dr. Amelia R. Keller, are attending the Governor, issued the following statement in the forenoon regarding his condition:

"The Governor's condition is entirely satisfactory. He spent a very good night and awoke today with an excellent appetite. His pulse and temperature remain normal and his mind has cleared up remarkably. It is probable, however, that the injury to his hip will cause him to be confined for several weeks."

Again Asks for Mail.
It was said at the Governor's office that reports from the hospital were that the Governor was in excellent condition and that he had asked that Miss Jeanette Harris, his executive clerk, bring his mail and executive papers to his bedside this afternoon that he might be able to work on official matters. His physicians prohibited this, however, for a day or two.

GIRLS' CANTEN IS IN OLD SALOON

By MISS IRENE MCINTYRE.
Salvation Army "Doughnut" in France. (Written for The United Press.)

WITH THE AMERICAN TROOPS AT THE FRONT, Aug. 31 (By Mail).—We doughnut girls get sudden orders for movement, too, sometimes much the same as the doughboys do. Our most sudden one came a few days ago—or rather it was night and ours was a midnight one.

Glady and I had finished a long day's work and were tired after making an unusually large batch of doughnuts. So we turned in early, for the front. Early is about 7 o'clock.

We had no more than fallen asleep when our commanding officer arrived with several other Salvation Army workers. When we had awakened enough to dress and see him, the officer informed us we would go in half an hour, and that the new arrivals would take our canteen over.

We hustled to get our affairs together, throwing them into our trunks. Then Glady grabbed her dog and I caught my pet fox who was out in the bushes and we were off. We rode almost all night, and about daylight came to the Salvation Army headquarters, where we rested for awhile.

Off for New Sector.
By noon we were off again, bound for a new sector which had never had a Salvation Army hut. It was more than 100 miles down the line from headquarters. We rode in a Ford which was used for carrying supplies to the canteens. Seats were put in the box for us. By night we had not arrived at our destination, and to avoid arriving at the front too late to be able to get a place for that night we stopped in a small French town. It took a lot of skimming around to find hotel accommodations so near the front, but we finally succeeded.

Next morning bright and early, our party arrived in the new home, a little town of Lorraine, very near the line, and more than half in ruins as the result of the boches' work when they invaded this area in 1914 and 1915. Our place was a store room, and the sign over it read "Modern Bar." So we made our canteen out of the bar room.

We were in a new party of eight who were opening huts in this new hilly sector of Lorraine. We had had lunch at the "Modern Bar" long when our commanding officer assigned us to a little village nearer the front, where we had to begin a new hut.

Picking Out a House.
We went out to pick out a house among those in ruins for a new home. Most all of the houses were battered and many had holes in them. We finally chose one which had not been used since the war started, except for a stable. It had a big loft and the roof leaked. It was terribly dirty.

But we saw fine possibilities in it for a doughnut kitchen, a canteen for the boys, and a place for them to read. We put in a bid for it with the town mayor, and he soon informed us he had leased it from the original owner for 99 years, for a pocketful of francs. He refused to take our money to pay the lease, saying he had taken up a collection to pay for it. We suspect he had a lot to do with it.

Next day we came back and the officers assigned us details to clean up the place. It was a big job in unbroken, but the boys went to work, and the place soon began to look respectable. Some whitewash and curtains and lots of scrubbing added to its appearance.

We are glad to have the new place open and running now, and we take a lot of pride in having made it ourselves, or rather having directed the work that made it. You have a sort of pioneer's feeling after you create a workshop for doughnut making out of an old Lorraine ruin.
